PARENT/COACH COMMUNICATION

Providing quality programs for all kids

Parent/Coach Relationship

Both parenting and coaching are extremely difficult vocations. By establishing an understanding of each position, we are better able to accept the actions of the coach and provide greater benefit to children. As parents, when your children become involved in our program, you have a right to understand what expectations are placed on your child. This begins with clear communication from the coach of your child's program.

Communication you should expect from your child's coach

1. Philosophy of the coach.
2. Expectations the coach has for your child as well as all the players on the squad.
3. Locations and times of all practices and contests.
4. Team requirements, i.e. fees, special equipment, fundraising, etc.
5. Procedure should your child be injured during participation.
6. Discipline that results in the denial of your Communication coaches expect from

1. Concerns expressed directly to the coach.
2. Notification of any schedule conflicts well in advance.
3. Specific concern in regard to a coach's philosophy and/or expectations.

As your children become involved in the programs

Appropriate concerns to discuss with coaches

1. The treatment of your child, mentally and physically.
2. Ways to help your child improve.
3. Concerns about your child's behavior.

It is difficult to accept your child's not playing as much as you may have hoped. Coaches are professionals. They make judgment decisions based on what they believe to be best for all students involved. As you have seen from the list above, certain things can be and should be discussed with your child's coach. Other things, such as those on the following page, must be left to the Issues not appropriate to discuss with coaches

1. Playing time
2. Team strategy
3. Play calling
4. Other student-athletes

There are situations that may require a conference between the coach and the parent.

These are to be encouraged. It is important that both parties involved have a clear understanding of the other's po-

If you have a concern to discuss with a coach, the procedure you should follow

1. Call to set up an appointment.
2. The Stayton High telephone number is 503-769-2171.
3. If the coach cannot be reached, call Athletic Director, Mr. Brown. He will set up a meeting for you.
4. Please do not attempt to contact or confront a coach before or after a contest or practice. These can be emotional times for both the parent and the coach. Meetings of this nature do not promote resolution.

What can a parent do if the meeting with the coach did not provide a satisfactory resolution

1. Call and set up an appointment with the Athletic Director to discuss the situation.
2. At this meeting the appropriate next step can be determined.

Since research indicates a student involved in co-curricular activities has a greater chance for success during adulthood, these programs have been established. Your child will learn values such as hard work, teamwork, sportsmanship, interpersonal relationships, honesty, and striving for success. Many of the character traits required to be a successful participant are exactly those that will promote a successful life after high school. We hope the information provided within this pamphlet makes both your child's and your experience with the Stayton High School athletic program less stressful and more enjoyable. With your help and positive support of the staff at Stayton High School, the experience will be rewarding for all.
